

Out of School Survival Kit: Resources for LGBTQ+ youth during breaks from school

Breaks from school can be challenging for lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer, questioning, and other youth (LGBTQ+), especially if your living situation is less than supportive or unsafe. While we hope breaks are fun and relaxing, we know they can also cause stress and anxiety. Here are some ways to take good care of you during this time, as well as some resources for when things are tough.

NATIONAL LGBTQ+ YOUTH RESOURCES

Desi lgbtQ Helpline for South Asians can be reached at 908-367-3374 or deqh.org.

You can call the GLBT National Youth Talkline toll-free at 1-800-246-7743. For more information, visit www.glnh.org.

Trans Lifeline is a by-Trans*, for-Trans* helpline. Call 877-565-8860 or visit translifeline.org.

Find a community online at www.TrevorSpace.org, a social networking site for LGBTQ+ youth ages 13-24.

KEEP YOUR CLUB GOING OVER BREAK!

- Before break ends ask members of your GSA or student group if they want to meet.
- Agree on a meeting schedule and time.
- Gather people's contact information and text or message them to get together.
- Find a safe space where you all feel welcome and supported—maybe someone's house, apartment, a library, or a café.
- Get together!

BOOKS, MOVIES, & WEBSITES

BOOKS: Goodreads.com has suggested booklists for Trans Teens, GLBT Teens, and more! Your local library is likely to have some of these titles.

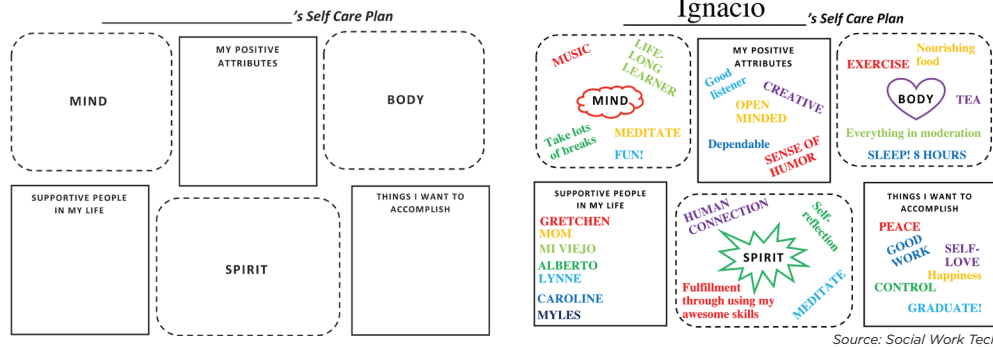

MOVIES: Netflix has a large Gay & Lesbian section for movies. Although it hasn't been updated recently, tinyurl.com/lgbtqmovies has a lot of good suggestions.

WEBSITES: There are many good (and not so good) websites out there. We can't list them all, but here are some favorites:

- Brownboiproject.org
- Colorlines.com
- Genderspectrum.org
- Huffingtonpost.com/gay-voices/
- Shadesofyellow.org
- Transgenderteensurvivalguide.tumblr.com

WHAT'S YOUR SELF-CARE PLAN?

Self-care can look like many things, including engaging with youth groups, taking walks, visiting supportive friends, finding a community online, being active, watching movies and reading books that affirm your identities, eating healthy foods, making art and music, and so much more!

YOU ARE WONDERFUL!

Society likes to tell you that something is wrong with you. Don't you believe it! You are good and beautiful just the way you are.

JUST COME OUT
(OR GET OUTED)
TO YOUR FAMILY?

PFLAG (pflag.org) and the Family Acceptance Project (familyproject.sfsu.edu) are great resources to share with family members. Also, create a safety plan (see below) ahead of time, if possible.

YOU HAVE RIGHTS!

You have the right to be yourself and to be treated with love and respect, and to be safe and free from harassment and discrimination—in public, at school, and at home!

- Immigrant Youth – tinyurl.com/immigrantyouth
- LGBT Youth Rights – tinyurl.com/lgbtqyouthrights
- Trans* Rights – tinyurl.com/transyouthrights and tinyurl.com/transgncyouthrights

IDENTIFY SUPPORTIVE ADULTS

Find two adults you trust (ideally not teachers who are sometimes hard to reach over break) who will be your go-to supports! Ideas include: A supportive aunt/uncle, neighbor, community center staff, or parent of a friend. If you need to talk or if something happens, turn to them for help!

DEVELOP A SAFETY PLAN...

While we hope you never get pushed out of your home or otherwise feel unsafe with family, it sometimes happens. What's your plan for where you'll go (see below) and who you'll turn to for help? Ideas include going to a supportive friend, neighbor, or relative's house or shelter.

Local resources include:

PHYSICAL SAFETY AND HEALTHY RELATIONSHIPS

- STAY ACTIVE: Keep your body moving over the summer! Play a pick-up sport with friends, or go on long walks. YouTube is packed with free exercise videos! Community centers often offer free or low-cost recreation options for young people. If you are wearing extra layers or binding it is especially important to drink lots of water to stay hydrated.
- IDENTIFY AND CELEBRATE HEALTHY RELATIONSHIPS: We all have a right to healthy relationships with friends and family as well as romantic and sexual partners. Some great resources on how to nurture healthy relationships and navigate away from unhealthy relationships include: inourownvoices.org/healthy.html, loveisrespect.org (search for their LGBTQ subsection), rm2bsafe.org, and scarleteen.com.
- FREE FOOD: Some faith-based spaces have free meals once a week, many of the youth groups listed on the previous page provide food during meetings, and many shelters provide food as well.
- PARTY SAFE: Plan for your and your friends' safety before heading out. Visit tinyurl.com/partysafelgbt for tips and suggestions. Tips for when you don't want to use drugs or alcohol are at tinyurl.com/m8g7c2n.
